MISS HEVEY SAVES A LIFE. Her Woollen Jacket Promptly Wrapped Around a Burning Child.

Miss Agnes Hevey, a public school teacher in Newark, saved the life of five-year-old Annie Eades of 248 South Eleventh street in that city on Tuesday night. The child was swinging a fruit can full of live embers in a vacant ot, and her dress caught fire. She was almost enveloped in fire as she ran toward home. Miss Hevey saw her, and before she got to her had torn off her own woollen jacket. This she wrapped around the child and extinguished the flames.

wrapped around the child and extinguished the flames.

The child is the oldest of three children whose father died last month. The mother has had a hard struggle to get along since, she was obliged to go away from home to work and the children were without care. Annie is terribly burned and the mother is compelled to stay home and nurse her. She was greatly worried yesterday to know where the means of subsistence would be obtained while she was caring for her injured child.

Italians Dismantle a Vacant House.

The vacant four-story brick house at 127 West Houston street has for some weeks past supplied the Italian population of that vicinity with fire wood for household purposes and with gas pine, which is easily convertible into cash. The Inspector of Buildings notified the police of the Charles stroet station that if the Italians kept on they would tear the house down. Detectives tharker and Brown went to the house resterday and found a crowd of Italians at work with axes and crowbars breaking up the floors and removing the gas like. All the Italians escaped except a man and a boy, who gave their names as John Mosntello, 4h years old, of 148 Thompson street, and Antonio Mesaro, 13 years old, of 440 Sullivan street. The man was fined $10 for disorderly conduct and the boy was committed to the care of the terry Society. police of the Charles street station that if the Clubs Likely to be Open this Year and the Men Who May Conduct Them. Long Branck, May 10 .- There is every indication of there being six and probably seven regular gambling houses opened at this place this season. It is said also that there are a number of New Yorkers who contemplate opening poker clubs here. The citizons do not object so seriously to the "regulars" doing business, such as the Pennsylvania Club or the John Daly Club, as the owners of these two clubs are interested largely in real estate live here, and, furthermore, do not cater to anything but the out-of-town patronage. They do not allow any of the town's people, it is said, to enter their places. During the winter and spring Phil Daly of the Pennsylvania Club has added a room to the club house. The Ocean Club, which has been closed for two seasons, has been moved to the corner of Broadway and Ocean avenue, and has been remodelled at a cost, it is said, of about $30,-000. It will be run by Slater & James of Baitimore,

Oth. It will be run by Slater & James of Baltimore.

The Mansion House Club, which was fleeced out of $5,700 one night last summer by two Gloucester dice fakirs, will be onen again this season under its old proprietor. George Gold. The Elberon Club at West End, near the Pennsylvania Club, will be under the management of Jolly. Marks & Morgan this season. Last season was the first that this club was in operation. Andrew M. Platt, who was connected with the Elberon Club last season, has severed his connection with that club entirely, and is giving his whole attention nowadays to horse racing. He is interested in one of the well-known stables.

A man named Allen, from Troy, who has been interested in several pool rooms recently in New York, is said to have rented a cottage in the vicinity of the Atlantic Hotel for the purpose of opening a gambling house. It was

It was rumored that Mr. Bullard, who was the pro-prietor of the Ocean Club for several years, had rented a cottage near West End. and was going to open a club house there, but this is without foundation, as there has been no cot-tage rented by him anywhere in Long Branch.

A FOURTEEN-YEAR-OLD ROMANCER. The Girl who Imposed a Touching Love Story on the Brooklyn Police.

The girl who told such a beautiful story when she applied for shelter at the Liberty avenue police station a few nights ago turns out to be a romance. She described herself as Lillian Maunsell, aged 18 years, an orphan. and said she had run away from the house of Mrs. Wilson, her aunt, at Greenport, L. I., because the latter had tried to force her into a disagreeable marriage. She was resolved. she said, to marry the man of her choice, whom she declared to be William Priester, and described as an ideal young man in every repect. A technical charge of vagrancy was entered against her, and the case was placed in the hands of the Children's Society for investi-

Raynor, a resident of Yaphank, L. L. Mr. Raynor was in Brooklyn yesterday and was present in the Gates Avenue Court, where Eva was arraigned. She refused to recegnize him or to return home with him, coolly remarking that she would rather stay in jail all her life than go hack to Yaphank. Mr. Baynor says she has always had a pleasant home, and that there is no cause for her strange conduct. There is a William Priester in existence, but he and Eva met only once, and then exchanged only a few words. If Eva does not reconsider her determination not to go home she will be committed to the House of Refuge.

All Quiet is the Navajo Country.

Wahiisoton, May 10.—Gen. Schofield to-day received a telegram from Gen. McCook, commanding the department of Arizona. Generaling a despatch from Col. Hunt, in charge of the troops in the field, stating that the situation in the Navajo country is apparently quiet. Two troops of his command arrived at Fruitland, Arizona, on the 2d inst., and the remainder a few days later. The murderer of the ranchman had been arrested and lodged in jail at Aztec. The Indian agent anticipated no trouble in arresting the others connected with the murder, as Black Horse has expressed his willingness and desire to aid in their capture. Col. Hunt expects to move toward the camp of Black Horse in a day or two.

The despatches received make no reference to the reported killing of Lieut Flummer by the Navasios, and this fact satisfies the devartment that the report is entirely without foundation.
